Multilateral CSA Notice of Amendments to National Instrument 13-101 System for Electronic Document Analysis and Retrieval (SEDAR) and Multilateral Instrument 13-102 System Fees for SEDAR and NRD

December 3, 2015

Introduction

The members of the Canadian Securities Administrators (the CSA), except for the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC) and the British Columbia Securities Commission (BCSC) (the participating jurisdictions or we), have adopted amendments to each of the following:

- National Instrument 13-101 System for Electronic Document Analysis and Retrieval (SEDAR) (NI 13-101), and
- Multilateral Instrument 13-102 System Fees for SEDAR and NRD (MI 13-102), (collectively, the Amendments).

Provided all necessary ministerial approvals are obtained, the Amendments will come into force on May 24, 2016 (the effective date).

The Amendments will be adopted in each of the participating jurisdictions either as an amendment to a rule or as an amendment to a regulation.

Substance and purpose

The substance and purpose of the Amendments is to provide an interim electronic filing solution to issuers for exempt market filings (as defined below). The interim solution will eventually be replaced by a national electronic filing system that accommodates exempt market filings in all CSA jurisdictions. A nominal fee will be charged on reports of exempt distribution for cost recovery purposes.

Background

The Amendments will require the following documents (the exempt market filings), which exist or are proposed under prospectus exemptions, to be filed in electronic format on SEDAR in accordance with NI 13-101 in the participating jurisdictions:

- Form 45-106F1 Report of Exempt Distribution;
- the offering memorandum and any other document, such as financial statements or marketing materials, that may be required in the future to be filed or delivered under section 2.9 [Offering memorandum] of National Instrument 45-106 Prospectus Exemptions (NI 45-106);

- in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Québec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, the offering document and Form 5 Start-up Crowdfunding Report of Exempt Distribution under the start-up crowdfunding prospectus and registration exemptions and the offering document, distribution materials, financial statements, notices and certain other documents under Multilateral Instrument 45-108 Crowdfunding <sup>1</sup> (together the crowdfunding exemptions); and
- in Québec, a disclosure document delivered to subscribers required to be filed under section 37.2 of the Securities Regulation (Québec).<sup>2</sup>

The Amendments would also impose a SEDAR system fee of $25 per filing of a report of exempt distribution, including a report of exempt distribution prepared in accordance with Form 45-106F1 Report of Exempt Distribution or Form 5 – Start-up Crowdfunding – Report of Exempt Distribution. This fee would be in addition to any filing fee required in the participating jurisdictions.

On June 30, 2015, we published a Notice and Request for Comment relating to the Amendments (the June 2015 Publication) in which we proposed requiring electronic filing of the exempt market filings, as set out above.

Summary of written comments received by the CSA

The comment period for the June 2015 Publication ended on August 31, 2015. We received submissions from 6 commenters. We considered the comments received and thank all of the commenters for their input. The names of commenters are contained in Annex A of this notice and a summary of their comments, together with our responses, is contained in Annex B of this notice.

Summary of changes to the June 2015 Publication

After considering the comments received on the June 2015 Publication, we have decided to proceed with our proposal to require exempt market filings to be made on SEDAR substantially as described in our June 2015 Publication. However, we have made revisions to the SEDAR system to reduce the risk of confidential information inadvertently being made public at the time of the filing and to change the access level on SEDAR for documents filed under the crowdfunding exemptions.

<sup>1</sup> In Saskatchewan, MI 45-108 is being published for a second comment period. It has been adopted in Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Ontario and Québec.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Section 37.2 of Securities Regulation (Québec) requires that, when a distribution is made pursuant to an exemption, any disclosure document delivered to subscribers, even if such document is not required by the Securities Act (Québec) or the Regulations, be filed without delay with the Autorité des marchés financiers, unless it has previously been filed.

Confidential information & SEDAR

In the June 2015 Publication, we described the filing of the report of exempt distribution as follows:

The report of exempt distribution is divided into two sections: the body of the report, which is generally public information; and, Schedule 1 of the report, which includes personal information about each investor, which is generally confidential information. Since the information on Schedule 1 is generally kept confidential, a filer will need to detach Schedule 1 from the body of the report of exempt distribution and file it with a separate access level on SEDAR that allows the Schedule 1 information to remain private.

As a result of the comments received, we have modified SEDAR to further reduce the risk of confidential information inadvertently being made public by the filer. The modifications include:

- 1. adding a pop-up warning message, once the document has been uploaded to the report of exempt distibution filing type, that notifies the filer that Schedule 1 must be filed separately because it contains sensitive personal information and that failure to do so will result in this information being made public; and
- 2. requiring the filer to acknowledge that Schedule 1 has been removed from the report of exempt distribution before the filer is able to submit the filing. We have made this feature more interactive so that it is not merely a tick-the-box exercise.

The filer will receive one additional general warning message reminding them of their obligation to comply with privacy laws when submitting filings on SEDAR that the filer will need to acknowledge before the filing will be accepted and made public.

Notwithstanding the safeguards that have been put in place, if a filer still includes confidential information in a public filing, the filer can notify staff at a securities regulatory authority in one of the participating jurisdictions and staff will assist the filer by making this filing private.

Access level for Crowdfunding documents

In the June 2015 Publication, we indicated that the offering document and distribution materials relating to the crowdfunding exemptions would have a private access level on SEDAR. However, in order to provide consistent access level to all public information, we intend to make the offering document and distribution materials relating to the crowdfunding exemption publicly available on SEDAR.

Voluntary filing period

The participating jurisdictions will issue blanket orders to allow issuers to electronically file certain exempt market filings in advance of the effective date. A copy of the applicable blanket order is included in Annex D. The blanket order will take effect on December 7, 2015.

Between December 7, 2015 and May 24, 2016, there will be no SEDAR system fee for voluntarily filing exempt market filings on SEDAR.

For additional information and considerations relating to making filings and electronic payments on SEDAR, please see the Multilaterial CSA Notice that accompanied the June 2015 Publication. An updated version of the SEDAR filer manual is available on the SEDAR website at www.sedar.com.

1	Support for the proposals	We received six comment letters. Two commenters strongly support the proposals. Two commenters support a move to electronic filing in principle but do not support the proposal in its current form. One commenter does not oppose the idea of electronic filings but does not support the proposal in its current form. Two commenters specifically supported the carve-out in respect of exempt market filing requirements for foreign issuers.	We acknowledge the comments.
		One commenter noted that, given the cost of public issuance of securities, more issuers are looking to private markets to raise capital. Accordingly, the availability of offering documents on a commonly used website will assist in providing information to potential investors, as well as allow investors to compare and contrast various issuers more efficiently. The commenter believes that this will "level the playing field" among investors.
		One commenter supports CSA efforts to improve the ease with which investors can access and search a database of information relating to non-reporting issuers in a way that is similar to reporting issuers. The commenter believes that SEDAR, as a known industry tool, is suitable for this purpose. The commenter also supports the proposal on the grounds that:  • it will allow both reporting and non-reporting issuers to make filings, including exempt market filings, available in multiple jurisdictions through a single system,

2	Comments on efficiency and whether streamlining will be acheived	All commenters noted that if the proposal is given effect, it will result in three different exempt market filing platforms among British Columbia, Ontario and the other jurisdictions. All commenters noted that harmonization across all jurisdictions would be preferable to a fragmented system. Five commenters noted that the existence of multiple platforms will likely work against the CSA's goal of streamlining exempt market filing requirements.	A longer-term CSA project is underway to create a single integrated filing system for exempt market filings that would further reduce regulatory burden on market participants. The integrated filing system will be part of the larger CSA systems renewal project.  Expanding SEDAR to include exempt market filings is an

Summarized Comment	Response
One commenter noted that its primary concern is regarding section 37.2 of the Securities Regulation pursuant to the Securities Act (Québec). The commenter noted that under the proposed amendments, any document required to be filed under 37.2 could be made public at any time at the discretion of the principal regulator. The commenter noted that the scope of 37.2 is broad and includes "any disclosure document delivered to subscribers [in connection with a distribution made pursuant to an exemption], even if such document is not required by the Act or the Regulations". The commenter noted that documents filed under 37.2 often contain confidential, proprietary and commercially sensitive financial and strategic information. Disclosure of such information could be highly prejudicial to the issuer. In addition, many issuers have made the strategic decision to remain private and the ability to keep sensitive, commercial information private may be a key aspect of strategy and operations. The commenter believes that the risk of sensitive information becoming public will incentivize some issuers to refrain from making offerings in certain jurisdictions and ultimately, it is potential investors who will suffer. The commenter also noted that issuers may make proactive applications under section 296 of the Securities Act (Québec) in order to prevent certain documents from becoming public. Regulators would then be required to undertake an in-depth review of these applications, resulting in an increased regulatory burden.	The participating jurisdictions wish to clarify that the only offering memoranda that will be required to be made public on SEDAR, are offering memoranda filed in accordance with section 2.9 [Offering memorandum] of NI 45-106 (the OM exemption). This prospectus exemption permits an issuer that meets the requirements to distribute securities to the general public.  The exempt market filings that will be made public on SEDAR are filings that are already publicly available upon request from the participating jurisdictions. While the method of access to those documents would change due to required filing on SEDAR, the public availability of the documents will not change. The participating jurisdictions believe that greater access to public information will improve fairness in the market.  The Autorité des marchés financiers (Québec) will not

No.	Subject	Summarized Comment	Response
4	Comment on the quality of information on SEDAR over time	One commenter noted that public filings on SEDAR become stale over time and that SEDAR does not allow those public filings to be removed. The commenter is concerned that exempt market filings may only provide potential investors with a "snapshot in time" of a non-reporting issuer and that such filings may quickly become dated and eventually misleading to potential investors. The commenter suggested that such filings should be "Private non-public" or a mechanism should be made available for documents to be removed after a certain amount of time has passed. The commenter also suggested posting a warning to investors that the information contained in filings may no longer be accurate or relevant.	change the access level for the disclosure documents filed under section 37.2 of the Securities Regulation (Québec) and these documents will not be publicly available on SEDAR.com. The method to access these documents will not change due to the required filing on SEDAR.  SEDAR Terms of Use stipulates that investors should not assume that documents available on SEDAR.com are error-free, timely, accurate or complete.  Issuers that distribute securities under a prospectus exemption that would require the filing of a public disclosure document on SEDAR, would be required under that exemption to provide investors with current information before completing a distribution. Investors should not need to rely on stale information to make an investment decision.
5	Comments on the system fee	One commenter directly addressed the proposed system fee, stating that it is nominal and the commenter has no issue with the fee in light	We acknowledge the comment.

No.	Subject	Summarized Comment	Response
		of the benefits of having this information made available.
6	Comments on policy	One commenter noted that requiring that an offering memorandum of an exempt market issuer be made publicly available seems inconsistent with policy considerations underpinning the exempt market. The commenter noted that the ability of a limited group of investors to make investments on a prospectus-exempt basis is premised on the grounds that such investors do not need the same level of regulatory protection. The commenter stated that requiring public disclosure of offering memoranda in the same manner as prospectuses appears inconsistent with the above premise. Further, the commenter noted that it may confuse investors, who, based on the public nature of the documents, may believe that they will be afforded the same rights and protections as investors in a prospectus offering.	The participating jurisdictions wish to clarify that the only offering memoranda that will be required to be made public on SEDAR, are offering memoranda filed in accordance with the OM exemption. This prospectus exemption permits an issuer that meets the requirements to distribute securities to the general public. Under the OM exemption an issuer is also required to obtain a signed risk acknowledgement from each investor. The risk acknowledgement form outlines some of the key inherent risks of purchasing a non-prospectus qualified security.
